NEWS AND NOTES OF THE STATE CAPITAL

Wake Superior Court in Session--Charters Issued--Rate Reductions Postponed.

Raleigh, March 27.—Judge Whedbee, of Greenville, convened the Wake county superior court today for a two weeks criminal term, there being 101 cases on the docket with prospects for the number to run up to 125 before the term closes. One of the most notable cases to be tried is against L. S. Whitson, who is charged with perjury in procuring a license to marry a woman here when he in reality had a wife in Norfolk. The case was nol prossed at a former term on account of a plea of insanity, a commission having reported him as a fit patient for the hospital for the insane. However, since this order was made the state hospital has refused to retain him in the hospital on the ground that he is not insane. So there is the reinstatement of the case. There will be no trial this term of a capital case, although there is one for manslaughter scheduled, that of Ernest Jones for killing John Jeffreys in Neuse township.

The case of J. F. Curley charged with embezzling $500 while secretary treasurer and manager of the Apex Knitting mills, is scheduled for trial but there is a prospect for the case to be settled out of court. Curley was recently brought to Raleigh from Tennessee.

Charters Issued.

The secretary of state charters the Stonehaven Hotel Company, Fayetteville, capital $100,000, by J. P. Sanders, R. E. Irwin and J. H. McAden for erection and operation of hotels, at Fayetteville and elsewhere. There is a charter also for the Flynt Tobacco Company, of Winston-Selam, capital $100,000, by J. G. Flynt, R. W. Gorrell, P. A. Gorrel and others for general tobacco business.

There are amendments for the charters of the Pepsi Cola Co., New Bern increasing the capital from $300,000 to $500,000, and of the Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Co., Tarboro, increasing the capital from $300,000 to $500,000.

Freight Rate Reductions Postponed.

An order just made by the Interstate Commerce Commission postpones the application of the order of the commission for the reduction of the Norfolk & Western freight rates to Winston-Salem and to Durham from Virginia gateways to May 15 from April 1 when the previous order made it effective. This is the case in which the North Carolina corporation commission won before the interstate commission in a suit for reducing the rate Roanoke to Winston-Salem and Lynchburg to Durham on the ground that the present rates are higher in proportion than the long haul rates to Virginia cities. In fact the case is one in which it is the expectation to ultimately relieve at least to some extent the alleged discriminations by the trunk lines of railroads against North Carolina shipping points as compared with the rates from the east and west to the Virginia cities. The continued postponements of this local relief for Durham and Winston-Salem is worrying the North Carolina litigants considerably. The original order was to be effective October 1 last.

Applications are coming in to the state department of education from very many counties of the state for copies of the act of the recent legislature providing state aid for the establishment of county farm life schools and the indications are that the limit of aid to ten schools established any single year will be quickly taken up for the current year. State Superintendent Joyner is just back from Mecklenburg county where the farmer's convention Saturday decided to provide a Mecklenburg school at once.

INTERNATIONAL HIGHWAY PLANNED

Road From New York to Montreal will Likely be Built—on to Jacksonville.

Albany, N. Y., March 27.—With the proposed international highway from New Yorw to Montreal apparently in a fair way to be carried out, friends of the project are advocating an extension of the road from New York to Jacksonville, Fla. The bill appropriating $1,600,000 to complete New York state's part of the highway from New York to Montreal has passed the senate and probably will come up for passage in the assembly this week. Governor Dix has already announced his approval of the measure.

President Taft wrote to Howard Hadley, of Plattsburg, head of the movement as follows:

"I have your letter in which you speak of an enterprise to build a broad highway of modern construction from New York City to Montreal. Of course I should like to see such an enterprise carried out. It would contribute to the social and business union of the two countries and cannot be but of benefit in many other ways."

From Phoenix, Ariz., Colonel Roosevelt sent a letter saying: "Of course it would be a great achievement if we could have such an international highway from Jacksonville to Montreal."

Bicycle Thief Captured After a Long Chase

Monday morning a young negro man, about twenty-three years old, went to the bicycle shop of E. G. Hege on Davie street and rented a wheel, saying he wanted to ride to the power plant of the Southern Power Company to collect his wages. He gave his name as Will Jones, told his place of residence and, apparently, there was nothing wrong about the transaction. He got the bicycle and rode away, but he did not return, and Mr. Hege suspected that the wheel had been stolen. Inquiry developed the fact that the negro was unknown at the address given and that he had never worked at the power plant.

Mr. Hege secured an automobile and began to scour the country, looking for his lost wheel. However, he had first telephoned to the officers in surrounding towns to look out for the negro. After making a trip almost to High Point and in other directions, it was discovered that the negro had gone in the direction of Burlington and he was followed to that place, a distance of 26 miles. On arriving there it was found that the negro had been arrested just a few minutes before. He was brought back to Greensboro and jailed. The negro's real name is Charlie Ellis and his home is in Durham.

BUILDING PERMIT.

A permit was issued yesterday to W. J. Holdman for an $800 house on Birch street.

SAFETY MORE VITAL THAN BEAUTY SAYS N. Y. FIRE CHIEF

Saturday's Catastrophe will Learn Entire Nation a Lesson Says Chief Croker in Making Recommendations for Future—Tearing Away Skyscrapers Advocated.

New York, March 27.—"Give us not merely fireproof, but death proof buildings" bids fair to become a municipal slogan as a result of the Washington place fire disaster of Saturday afternoon in which 141 people, nearly all of which were women, lost their lives and a score received injuries.

The slogan was coined by Fire Chief Croker as summing up his recommendations for the future. The entire nation, he declared, will learn a lesson from Saturday's fire such as it has learned only twice of late years—once when the Collingswood, O., disaster taught the necessity of adequate fire protections in school buildings and again when the Iroquois theatre fire in Chicago taught the same lesson for theatres.

Chief Croker's recommendation is:

"The 'city beautiful' is less vital than the 'city safe.'

"Let us see first of all that our people live and work under adequate protection for their lives and persons.

"I would have fire escape landings extending all along the outside of every office loft or factory building.

"I would have the balcony landings built wide enough for two persons to pass in safety without crowding.

"Next let us have all inside stairways enclosed in fire proof partitions. Never allow an exit door to be blocked and make the fire escape windows open to the floor level like a door. Protect each floor with all available automatic safety devices and sprinklers. Last, but not least, make fire drills at frequent intervals compulsory i nall factories, lodging houses and institutions."

The Woman's Trade Union announced the beginning of an investigation which is expected to embrace every factory in New York city where union labor is employed. All union workers will be asked to write confidential answers to questions concerning conditions where they toil.

The timing of the height of all buildings and even tearing down of existing skyscrapers is recommended by Theodore H. Price, a prominent fire insurance man. The height of every building should be governed, he says, by the character of its occupancy. Four or five stories should be the legal maximum where manufacturing or industrial pursuits are followed.

"A fire in the financial district, could, in a small radius, wipe out the available fire insurance capital in the United States," said Mr. Price.

Monday's Session Municipal Court

Yesterday's session of Municipal court was somewhat longer than usual, none of the cases being of any importance, however.

Tad Donnell, a little negro boy, was convicted on the charge of assaulting another negro. Judge Eure suspended judgment on payment of costs, his mother promising to administer a sound threshing to the boy.

J. A. Root was found guilty of the charge of disorderly conduct and Judge Eure imposed a fine of $7.50 and costs.

Till Brower was convicted on the charge of assaulting his brother, being assessed with the costs. His brother, Roe Brower, was arraigned on the charge of assaulting his sister, but was found not guilty.

Wesley Brower, father of the above boys, was also charged with an assault, having lammed a negro boy over the head with a bicycle wheel several days ago. He was convicted and required to pay a fine of $5 and costs.

George Garrell was charged with non-support, but the evidence was so weak that a verdict of not guilty was returned.

Will Suttle was charged with larceny, being sentenced to serve six months on the roads.

Eugene V. Debs will pass through the city today, enroute to Raleigh. He will spend several hours in the city.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS MEET THIS AFTERNOON

Will Discuss Plans for Raising Funds for County Work—Question of Having Guilford County Day at State Convention will also be Decided by Committe.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock in the McAdoo hotel will be held a meeting of the executive committee of the Guilford County Sunday School Association, together with the committee appointed at the convention last week to devise plans for the raising of the $600 pledged for state and county work during the coming year. Field Secretary Van Carter will meet with the committees and advise as to the best methods to adopt.

Something like $400 of this amount is to be used in bringing before the Sunday schools of the county the need of organized classes and teacher training classes in all schools, if the best results are to obtain in the schools.

The committee will also discuss the advisability of having a Guilford County Day during the sessions of the State Convention, which will be held in High Point April 26-28. The matter has been discussed by a number of workers and it is believed that the idea is a capital one. In case the committee decides to plan for such an occasion the schools in Greensboro will at once begin to stir up interest and if possible will charter a train to carry the Greensboro delegation to the Furniture City on the day decided upon.

Mr. Kirkman's will Filed for Probate

Yesterday in the office of Superior Court Clerk Forbis the will of the late A. G. Kirkman was filed for probate. The estate, which will aggregate about $30,000, will be divided among relatives of the deceased. Seymour A. Kirkman and Mrs. Louisa Staunton, brother and sister of the deceased, are named as executors:

Bequests are made as follows to the sisters and brothers of the deceased: To Seymour A. Kirkman, $1,500 in cash and 156 acres of land; to Seymour A. Kirkman and Mrs. Louisa Staunton, $300 each for acting as executors and $100 each additional for handling a $3,000 trust fund; to Dr. Daniel W. Kirkman, one eighth interest in the estate of their father purchased years ago by the deceased, a gold watch and $1,000 in cash; to Emily A. Kirkman, $2,500 in cash and all the household and personal property and one eighth interest in their father's estate; to Mrs. Staunton, $3,500 in cash; to Mrs. Mary E. Hancock, $1,500; to Rev. John E. Kirkman, $1,500, and to Webster A. Reid, a nephew of the deceased, $1,500.

The will also establishes a trust fund of $3,000, one half of which is to go to young men studying for the ministry in the Methodist church and the other half to young women of the county who are striving to be teachers, the purpose being to give preference to young women living in West Greensboro circuit and if they do not use all of it then it is to go to young women in the county at large. The instrument appoints the Greensboro Loan & Trust Company or some other reliable trust company as custodian of the fund and if it is not used up in four years it reverts to the estate.

Head of National Biscuit Co. Here

A. W. Green, of New York, president of the National Biscuit Company, was in the city a short while yesterday, leaving on his private car, the Republic, attached to train No. 22 for Raleigh. While in the city Mr. Green was shown over the city and driven out to the Battle Ground, being accompanied by local representative Rankin. He expressed himself as greatly pleased with the city and country and spoke complimentary of Guilford's roads. Mr. Green is making a tour of southern cities in which his company maintains offices, being accompanied by his wife and daughter and private secretary.

INDOOR FAIR OF THE LOCAL ELKS BEGIN

Large Crowd Present Last Night—Event a Success—Program for Today.

The Elks Indoor Fair began last evening at 8 o'clock and from that hour until midnight the club rooms were crowded. The attendance far exceeded the expectations of those who had the occasion in charge and rarely does one have fun and pleasure combined as was obtainable at the Elks home last evening.

Standing room was at a premium, the entire lower floor being so crowded that it was with difficulty that one could get through. Everywhere merriment was at its height, the screaming of the men and young ladies in charge of the booths adding to the occasion.

The entire building had been artistically decorated and presented a regular fair-like appearance. The Elks colors, of purple and white, were suspended in festoons for every chandelier, while the background for the main floor was a collection of national flags. Refreshments of all kinds were on sale, a bevy of young ladies, uniquely dressed, being kept busy disposing of lunches and soft drinks.

On the second floor in the lodge room a suffragette convention was held. About a dozen young men, dressed as women, were the center attraction and the speeches in favor of woman suffrage were most amusing. The young men then paraded through the audience smoking and cutting up so as to provoke much merriment. At 10 o'clock dancing began, lasting until midnight.

On account of the fact that the fish did not arrive the fishing pool was not in operation last night, but will be ready this afternoon. The poop-la wheels will be put in this morning, also. The palmist, who was the center of attraction last night, will be on hand today ready to tell fortunes.

Today will be known as Masonic and High Point day. The Masons will attend in large numbers and this evening after the supper hour the Royal Arch Masons will have a banquet. The High Point Elks will come down in large numbers and several auto parties have been made up in the Furniture City for the occasion.

The fair will open at noon and close at midnight. Dinner, consisting of roast chicken, ham, potato salad, pickles, bread and butter, will be served for 35 cents, cream and cake 15 cents additional, will be served from 12 to 2 o'clock. Supper, at the same prices, will consist of pressed beef, ham, deviled eggs, salad, hot rolls, coffee, the hours being from 6 to 8 o'clock.

At 8 o'clock a musicale will be given in the lodge room under the direction of Mrs. F. J. Muir. Dancing will begin at 9:30 and last until 12.

This is the first event of the kind ever given in the state and that it will be a success was evidenced by the large and enthusiastic attendance last evening, the initial night of the fair.

John A. Spence, of the School of Pharmacy, spent Sunday in Durham.

ADJOURNED SESSION ALDERMANIC BOARD

Gasolene Ordinance Adopted--Streets Accepted--Registration Changes.

The Board of Aldermen met last evening in adjourned session for the purpose of passing an ordinance regulating the handling and use of gasolene and like fluids that at ordinary temperature give off inflamable vapors. The ordinance was introduced by Alderman Albright and provides that not more than a gallon of said fluids shall be kept inside a building situated inside the city fire limits and not more than five gallons outside the fire limits without placing same in underground tanks at places approved by the Fire commission or the Board of Aldermen. Violations are punishable by a fine of not exceeding $50. The ordinance was adopted, but will not become effective within twenty days after its publication.

The board accepted a deed for Joyner street between Spring Garden street and Railroad avenue. The board also accepted a deed for Fisher avenue between North Elm and Wainman streets. The remainder of the avenue had been accepted at a previous meeting.

The city clerk was instructed to have made a certified copy of the regisfration books for use in the general primary on April 24.

Inasmuch as there is to be a new registration and as many citizens had requested that the books be kept at the polling places on other days than Saturdays Alderman King moved that the registrars be requested to be at the polling places in addition to Saturdays as follows: On April 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 from 1 p. m. to 6:30 p. m. and from 7 a. m. to sundown on April 17, 18, 19, 20, 21. For these days the registrars are to receive $1 per diem in addition to the two cents for each name registered. On Saturdays they receive $2 per diem and 2 cents per name.

Bullet Explodes Dynamite; Girl Killed, Three Hurt

Franklin, La., March 27.—The explosion of 100 pounds of dynamite from the impact of a rifle bullet fired by a member of a launch party in Hanson canal yesterday afternoon resulted in the loss of one life, the injury of three persons, the wrecking of the boat and damage to property several miles distant.

Miss Kate Miller is dead and T. C. Lawless, Ellis Hahn and John Davidson, all members of the launch party, were injured, Lawless seriously. Windows were broken in buildings in this town five miles from the scene.

Davidson fired at a box on the shore 150 yards distant. A terrible explosion was the answer. The boat was broken in twain and immediately sank carrying Miss Miller with it.

TROLLEY LINE WILL BE EXTENDED TO COUNTRY CLUB.

The North Carolina Public Service Company has agreed to extend its line on North Elm street the distance of about one and one-fourth miles, to the Proximity railroad crossing, and the work is to be completed by October 1. It was the intention of the company to make an extension within a year or so, but the contemplated extension would not have gone beyond the city limits. Through the efforts of the Country Club it was agreed to complete the extension earlier and to carry it beyond the city limits, to a point within four minutes walk of the proposed club house of the Country Club.

The members of the Country Club appreciate the consideration shown them by the Public Service Company, but do not believe the company will lose by the extension, as the new line will secure much business on account of the location of the grounds of the club in that quarter; and there is other good business for the street railway to be had by building a line in that direction.

YOUNGSTER SEEKING MARRIAGE LICENSE OFFERED BRIBE TO OFFICIAL.

It is a frequent occurrence for young men of questionable age to beg for a marriage license and the same applies where the young woman in the case appears to be not over seventeen, but on last Friday night Deputy Roy Jones reached the limit of his endurance.

A young couple came over from Virginia all aglow with the thoughts of easy sailing in Greensboro. About 7 o'clock they called on Registrar Rankin, who after adjusting his glasses and critically surveying the couple advised them to go home at once or their parents were liable to give them a spanking when they arrived; that it was late at night for people of their age to be out alone. However, after noting their seriousness he informed them that a license was out of the question, but to soften the blow, added that Deputy Jones might accommodate them.

They at once secured a carriage and directed the driver to find Mr. Jones at all hazards. Having been employed by other parties on a like mission the driver went direct to Mr. Jones' residence and the prospective groom found him enjoying his aftersupper cigar. The license was flatly refused and after seeing that begging was of no avail the young man decided to change his tactics. "Tell you what I'll do," he exclaimed enthusiastically, "If you will issue the license I'll give you ten dollars." To his utter amazement the deputy replied "Look here you cant' bribe me. I wouldn't issue you a license for $500. When you get old enough to reason properly you will learn that we do things on the square in Guilford. When you arrive at the proper age or can show that your parents do not object to your marriage it will give me great pleasure to issue a marriage license for you, but until then there is nothing doing."

Much wiser and apparently much sadder the couple retraced their steps and boarded the first train leaving the city.

South Carolina's pardoning Governor has committed numerous other unpardonable sins, according to the newspapers of his State.

The man who does not believe life is worth living, should get an opinion from a baseball fan at this stage of his career. The anticipatory joyousness of the average Greensboro fan is death to pessimism.

The Honorable Richmond Pierson Hobson, authority on the characteristics of the honorable citizens of Japan, remains strangely quiet, in regard to international complications, but this condition may be attributed to the fact that Mr. Hobson is delivering temperance lectures nowadays.

The gentlemen who are picking Democratic candidates for United States Senator in North Carolina, at least have the merit of showing some discrimination when they name a Greensboro man. Greensboro undoubtedly can supply first class material for this office or any other in the gift of the people.

The Columbia State does not believe there is going to be a split in the Democratic party. This opinion was expressed in answer to Senator Tillman's assertion that there is going to be a split in both of the old parties. The State calls attention to the fact that there is already division in the ranks of the Republican party. There is, also, division in Democratic ranks. It is not so evident and clearly defined as the Republican line of division, however. The truth with reference to this matter is probably that the progressives in the Democratic party far outnumber the reactionaries and a few of the latter may leave the party. In the Republican party the reactionaries have a decisive majority, and the progressives will ultimately be forced out of the party if they persist in clinging to their progressive ideas.

An advertising expert says the most difficult thing to find one can look for is yesterday's newspaper. Every person is aware of this fact. The newspaper lasts for a day, in most cases; yet there are hundreds of advertisers trying to do business on the advertising of yesterday, last week or last year. The right kind of advertising has lasting qualities, but not the kind that last forever. The value of advertising is cumulative, but the advertising must go on if its weight and influence is to increase. The only really successful advertising nowadays is the advertising that goes on forever, day by day.

ADVERTISING EXPERT SAYS USE THE NEWSPAPERS.

Hugh Chalmers, head of the Chalmers Motor Company, is one of the greatest advertising experts of the country. He began his career in business as office boy for the National Cash Register Company and concluded it with that company as sales manager, at a salary of $72,000 per year. Mr. Chalmers' knowledge of advertising was the chief cause of his advancement with this concern and has been the mainspring of his wonderful business success. Chalmers believes newspapers are the best advertising medium, and he says so emphatically and forcibly. In an address delivered to advertising men, recently, among other things, he said:

"There are two excuses why any man should not advertise. The first one is, 'I have so much business—why advertise?' The second is, 'I have so little business I cannot afford to advertise.' So if a man is looking for an excuse between these two he always has one.

"I believe that newspapers are the best mediums for advertising because the people are always looking for news. They buy a newspaper to read the news, and they stumble into the advertising. I believe in all kinds of mediums—Magazines, both weekly and monthly, and weekly newspapers. I believe in any medium that has a legitimate circulation, but I particularly believe in the newspapers as being the best way of reaching the people with almost anything you have to sell.

"I believe that advertising and salesmanship are the chief factors in distribution, and the relationship between the two is the closest—in fact, they are inseparable, because all advertising is salesmanship and all salesmanship is advertising. If you want one word that will take the place of both that one word is 'teaching.' Advertising and salesmanship are teaching people to believe in you and in the goods you have to sell. In advertising, however, you are talking to thousands or perhaps hundreds of thousands of people at a time, while in salesmanship you are talking to one or two persons at a time, so that it might properly be said that advertising conducts a public school, while salesmanship gives individual lessons, but in each one you are teaching, whether it be in printed advertising or in oral salesmanship.

"Now let's consider the advertising side of this question for a few moments. As I have said before, I don't think it is possible to get up any set of rules governing advertising, because just as surely as you try to do this you will find the rules won't work. Instead of being a set of rules, advertising mainly consists of having the right idea and using it at the right time. That sounds simple, and it is, too, but it is one of those things so infernally simple that they are hard. We make it hard sometimes because we try to go about it with a set of rules which some one has told us about, or we try to apply to it other tests instead of trying to apply to it the one test of simplicity and plainness and of common sense. To my mind there are only three fundamental principles in advertising, and these are as follows: First, be honest; second, be sensible; third, be persisistent.

"I say 'be honest' because every advertiser should remember that advertising doesn't create value—it merely tells of it. The value has to be in the article itself. Advertising never added to or detracted from any article ever sold, and, while it is possible through advertising to create a lot of first orders through misrepresentation, yet it would be impossible to repeat such an advertising campaign, and no permanent success was ever built up on misrepresentation or misstatement.

"I say 'be sensible' because there are so many men who seem to talk about everything else but the right thing when they get to writing advertising copy. Be sensible because the majority of people who read copy are endowed with good common sense.

"I say 'be persistent' because you have to keep everlastingly at it. People soon forget—there is so much to attract their attention—and unless we keep persistently at advertising we had better not begin at all. As my good friend Colonel Lafe Young of Des Moines has said, 'Every man, woman and child in this country knows that a railroad crossing is dangerous, but the railroads don't take down their "Stop, Look, Listen!" signs., Keep up advertising and be persistent. Why? Bacause the hardest thing to find today is yesterday's newspaper. If you don't think so, try to find one.

"There is no particular mystery about advertising. In the last analysis it is simply common sense plus printer's ink:"

RALEIGH'S Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGN WILL SUCCEED.

The news from Raleigh indicates that the Y. M. C. A. campaign is going to prove a success. More than one-third of the necessary sum of money was raised in two days. Some of the livest and most progressive and most influential men of the capital are leading the campaign and they are working with the will which wins. Success is undoubtedly assured.

One of Greensboro's leading citizens was honored by being called upon to help inaugurate the Y. M. C. A. movement in Raleigh, and the other friends of the organization in this city are as deeply interested in Raleigh's success as Hon. R. C. Hood. Greensboro will rejoice with Raleigh when the announcement is made that $65,000 has been secured to give the capital city an organization and a building to house the Young Men's Christian Association.

Political Suggestion from Richmond.

The folks in Greensboro will soon have to elect a mayor under the commission form of government lately adopted there. Without knowing who the present candidates are, we may be permitted to suggest that the Hon. Carter Dalton would be a good man, for besides having a Virginia patronymic, he is one of the original experts in the commission form of government, having studied it under such men as Beale and Stack. Besides he is an ardent Democrat and believer in the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence myth, and for this last persistent faith he should be rewarded. It was largely through the active efforts of Mr. Dalton, we believe, that his congressional district was wrested from the Republicans and Major Stedman sent to the Democratic House.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Advertising By Circular.

The New Bern Journal voices once more the complaint against the practice of attaining publicity by means of the distribution of booklets and circulars. No city can possibly be a city beautiful, according to its way of thinking, as long as tons and tons of waste paper are scattered indiscriminately every year on the streets and in the yards upon whose appearance the beauty so much desired depends. To the circular and booklet method of advertising in itself no particular objection is to be raised. If the advertiser finds that such an investment brings returns, his selection of it is justified from the business viewpoint. It is the litter which accompanies the method that constitutes the nuisance, and in not a few instances this is of such magnitude as to demand the abolition of the practice. In this day of deadly competition, when every penny invested must produce its result, the fact that the circular closely resembles a load of shot in taking effect offers the brightest hope for its relegation to the rear. The average boy, as The Journal points out, does not distribute his circulars; he merely scatters them. Logically there must be an enormous proportion of the paper and ink—to say nothing of the thought—employed to prepare the circular absolutely and irretrievably wasted. When advertisers figure this proportion down to a point at which it more than outweighs the advantage derived from the circulars that are read, circular distribution will die a quick death. And thus will the city beautiful be brought a step nearer. —Charlotte Observer.

Warning to Railroad Men

Look out for severe and even dangerous kidney and bladder trouble resulting from years of railroading. Geo. E. Bell, 639 Third St., Fort Wayne, Ind., was many years a conductor on the Nickel Plate. He says: "Twenty years of railroading left my kidneys in terrible condition. There was a continual pain across my back and hips and my kidneys gave me much distress, and the action of my bladder was frequent and most painful. I got a supply of Foley Kidney Pills and the first bottle made a wonderful improvement and four bottles cured me completely. Since being cured I have recommended Foley Kidney Pills to many of my railroad friends." Howard Gardner.

A severe attack on school principal, Chas. B. Allen, of Sylvania, Ga., is thus told by him. "For more than three years," he writes, "I suffered indescribable torture from rheumatism, liver and stomach trouble and diseased kidneys. Political Publicity.

Rival candidates for Mayor in Charlotte are using printer's ink quite extensively in advancing their political fortunes in that city and the Chronicle, News, and The Observer are teeming with display advertisements and "deadly paralleled" columns of advertising from the Hawkins or the Bland headquarters, whooping it up for their respective candidates. This suggests that newspapere all over the country are no longer allowing political candidates for municipal, State or National offices to "ride a free horse to death" in presenting their respective claims. Of course, in political campaigns newspapers do and should give liberally of their space to promote the general good of the community in enabling the people to decide issues, but the day of the "personal appeal" except at space rates, is over. The Charlotte papers learned their lesson several campaigns ago and many others have followed suit, until now it is a very live paragraph in every publisher's announcement that "communications espousing the cause of a private enterprise or a political candidate, and like matter will be charged at space rates."

In this connection, along the general lines of the application of business to newspaper publishing, the Star is printing elsewhere in today's Star a timely article by Mr. J. T. Fain, editor of The Greensboro Telegram. As an interesting insight into the business of newspaper publishing, the article of Mr. Fain should be read by the public at large.—Wilmington Star.

THE RETURN.

COME to the light, love. Let me look on thee.
Let me make sure I have thee. Is it thou?
Is this thy hand? Are these thy velvet lips,
Thy lips so lovable? Nay; speak not yet,
For oft as I have dreamed of thee it was
Thy speaking woke me. I will dream no more.
Am I alive? And do I really look
Upon those soft and sea blue eyes of thine,
Wherein I half believe I can spy
The riches of the sea? Nay, heavenly hued,
As though they had gained from gazing on the stars
Their high and starry beauty. These dark rolled locks!
O God, are thou not glad, too, he is here?
—Philip James Bailey.

THE SMILE OF A WOMAN.

THE smile of a woman, it brings back the sun
When shadows drift down and the daylight is done.

THE smile of a woman, it lifts and it leads
The heart that is heavy, the spirit that bleeds.

THE smile of a woman, in worlds that are dight
In garments of winter—wind driven and white—

DAWNS down the dark valleys and over the hills
Till spring laughs again on the lips of the rills

AND summer's soft morning comes back to the land
With a rose in its hair and a bloom in its hand.

THE smile of a woman, it brings to the earth
The music of morn on the red lips of mirth;

THE hope and the joy and the dreaming of rest
Where love holds a little one's face on her breast.
—Unidentified.

HOW MANY MILES TO BABYLON?

A NURSERY rhyme I knew of old,
That thrilled one line of bugle blow,
One line of blazoned purple and gold,
Of sunrise gleam and sunset glow;
It held the sailor's loud "Yo-ho!"
The soldier's gallant "Ever on!"
The virgin's hope, the poet's throe—
"How many miles to Babylon?"

The city where royal roadway rolled
League after league and row on row,
Where hanging gardens did enfold
Lilies ashine like magic snow,
All the white wonders children know
And hoping hearts do dote upon
That would forget time's mournful flow—
"How many miles to Babylon?"

O city of dreams, how ready and bold
Were we to cry "Come, let us go
Out of these streets where wise men scold
Their logic, their eternal 'No!'"
Forth we adventured, forth, and, lo,
The wise men, all at pro and con,
Laughed with their laughter grim and slow,
"How many miles to Babylon?"

ENVOI.

Ah, prince, we know the years—we know
The weariest ever sun shone on,
Weary as wealth and wan as woe.
"How many miles to Babylon?"
—Pall Mall Gazette.

A COLLEGE GIRL'S DAY.

SHE breakfasts on a pickle,
And then the custom is
To go and spend a nickel
Upon a glass of fizz.

ALONG about ten-thirty
She needs some solid fare
And goes with Grace or Gertie
To purchase an eclair.

AT twelve on pie she lunches,
And through the afternoon
From time to time she munches
A dainty macaroon.

HER pocketbook she'll pillage
At dusk and gayly trudge
To purchase in the village
Ingredients for fudge.

AT night, with loosened tresses,
It is her dearest wish
To cook up awful messes
Upon a chafing dish.

AND when she's done with brewing
And all the house is dumb
She goes to bed still chewing
Her little wad of gum.
—Kansas City Journal.

THE SHIP OF DREAMS.

DREAM laden argosy, return!
In days of springtime when the sea was blue,
Smiling and sunlit, and the world seemed true,
I sent you hither, argosy,
Dream laden, flower decked, return!

LONG have I waited by the summer sea,
Through dashing waves and leaden skies,
I sat and prayed and strained my weary eyes.
Now comes the winter dread,
Oh, sails of golden hopes, return!
—Jacksonville Times-Union.

"IF LOVE WERE ALWAYS LAUGHTER."

IF love were always laughter
And grief were always tears,
With nothing to come after
To mark the waiting years,
I'd pray a life of love to you,
Sent down from heaven above to you,
And never grief come near to you—
To spread its shadow, dear, to you—
If love were always laughter
And grief were always tears.

But grief brings often laughter,
And love, ah, love brings tears!
And both leave ever after
Their blessings on the years.
So I, dear heart, would sue for you
A mingling of the two for you
That grief may lend its calm to you
And love may send its balm to you,
For grief brings often laughter
And love brings often tears.

HAT ORNAMENTS.

Trimmings That May Be Successfully Made at Home.

GARDENIA QUITE POPULAR.

The Latest Fancy, However, Is a Bunch of White Grapes—Make One of These Designs For Your Spring Chapeau. White Kid Lends Itself to Various Attractive Designs.

The vogue for white kid as trimming for hats has reached a point where the needlewoman can step safely to the rescue. Any of these ornaments can be made at home from white kid purchased at a leather store or cut with clever fingers from discarded gloves. These ornaments can be cleaned, they are soft and of light weight, and if you wish a touch of water color can be added.

The round form is of kid and gold braid. On a disk of heavy scrim the long strip of kid is shirred, allowing a space in the center. The outer edge is held in place under the heavy gilt cord, and a wheel of the same is used for the center of the whole ornament. This is quite easily formed at home and in this season of millinery simplicity is sufficient decoration for an outing hat.

Gardenias of white kid are made of several round petals, with four or five smaller ones with irregular edges. The gardenia can be tinted with pink and changed by the wave of a brush to a camellia. Such is life!

Perhaps the latest is a bunch of grapes in white kid on the black. In the form of a poppy the white kid petals are held in the center by a cluster of yellow stamens. These can be bought at any millinery department.

GARDENIA AND A SMART ROUND ORNAMENT OF KID.

and the form of each petal is sufficiently clear to guide you in cutting it out of the leather. A wire stem is covered and attached at the base.

Cotton is used, and circular pieces of white kid about the size of a fifty cent piece are gathered around the wadding. The grapes are attached to a triangular foundation of black net and a wire stem covered with a narrow strip of kid wrapped around it.

The kid wing on wire, a military fan of two or three rows of plaited or fluted leather, a jeweled buckle—these you have seen, perhaps, on hats. It is now urged that you make an ornament for that little hat of the season.

Spool Holders.

Did you ever go hastily to your sewing basket and find all the thread unwound and tangled? If you ever did you will appreciate the very simple holder for spools of cotton and silk described here. In size and scope it may be varied as you please, but the sample described is just about what the average housewife needs.

The foundation is a board 12 by 8 inches and a half inch thick. Into this drive two rows of six long nails, each long enough, that is, for their points to project through to the other side the length (almost) of a spool.

On the board mark in plain letters above the top row "20, 30, 40, 50, 60, 70." In the top row put your black thread of the corresponding number, in your bottom row your white.

If you wish to add a row of colored silks, mark them also, the proper color under each.

So that the spools shall not fall off the nails drop a bit of hot sealing wax at the top of each nail. This will prevent hurting the hand on the sharp nails also. When the spool is exhausted it is easy enough to knock off the sealing wax and apply new.

Put screw eyes at the back of this board and hang it up by your work table or sewing machine. You will find it one of the most useful articles in the room.

The Boy Scouts In Camp.

On last Saturday afternoon the Boy Scouts of troop number two of Greensboro took their first trip into camp accompanied by their scout master. The place had already been selected in a wild spot in thick forest two miles from the city.

At 4 o'clock the troop formed equipped with the regulation cooking "billy" and plenty of uncooked food. On arrival at camp the boys fell to work pushing the construction of their camp house. Some cut down the trees, others dragged them to camp, while still others prepared the poles and placed them in the structure. They worked like beavers.

As the sun sank behind the hills ten camp-fires were kindled and were soon surrounded by groups of merry boys each bent on passing the cooking test, for no scout can pass to the second degree until he can cook the regulation camp meal with no other utensil than the "billy." They all succeeded gloriously both in cooking and eating. They cooked and ate, and then cooked and ate again, and repeated the process until their supplies were exhausted.

One scouting activity is tracking and watching wild animals i ntheir haunts, learning their habits, and sympathizing with them. According to previous arrangement the camp was not to break until an hour after dark. So in the absence of wild animals, a trail was arranged. Two boys who wore white shirts which could be seen in the darkness served as hares, while the other boys served as two packs of hounds. The hares having a hundred yards start, the chase was on through the thick forest. One hare was caught and the other was chased into camp closely pursued.

The fires being extinguished, the boys found themselves in dense darkness with two hundred yards of thick brush before them, but headed by a boy of true scout spirit they were soon to the clearing with nothing worse than a few scratches.

They formed in rank and marched in orderly procession back to the city arriving home by nine o'clock. They had been initiated into their scout life and were happy.

MOTHER AND THREE CHILDREN PERISH IN FLAMES.

Harrodsburg, Ky., March 27.—Four persons perished and five others had narrow escapes in the destruction of the home of J. T. Veach, four miles from here, by flames early today. The victims were Mrs. J. M. Bridges and her three children. Her parents, the Veaches and their three children escaped with slight burns.

Mrs. Bridges, who is the wife of a Methodist evangelist of Bath, N. C., was visiting with her three children at the Veach home. They slept on the second floor. Early today Mr. Veach was aroused by the crackling of flames. He alarmed his wife and their children who slept on the first floor and shouted up a flame choked stairway to Mrs. Bridges. There was no response. Veach attempted to rush through the burning stairway to his daughters aid but was driven back by smoke and fire.

The house burned down in an incredibly short time. In the ruins were found the charred bodies of Mrs. Bridges and her children.

Women and Society

Mrs. Alford to Entertain.

Mrs. A. E. B. Alford will entertain this afternoon in honor of Miss Marjorie Long, who is to be married on April 6.

Virginia Couple Married Here.

Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the parlors of Hotel Clegg Rev. C. E. Hodgin officiated at the marriage of Thomas B. Robertson and Miss Beatie M. Morgan, of Luenburg county, Va. The marriage was a runaway affair, but the couple appeared to be plenty old enough to know the seriousness of the step they were taking. They arrived on No. 35 and soon secured the license through the kindness of Deputy Register of Deeds Roy Jones, who came uptown to accommodate them. Rev. C. E. Hodgin proved equally accommodating and the happy couple were soon husband and wife.

Margaret Foster Missionary Society.

At Sunday's meeting of the Margaret Foster Missionary Society of West Market Street Methodist church officers for the ensuing year were elected. The reports for the past year were highly satisfactory and showed that considerable work had been done. It has been decided to hold the annual meetings in December in the future.

The following officers were elected, these to be installed next Sunday afternoon:

Mrs. Maie Alderman Wills, president; Miss Annie Anderson, vice president; Miss Lizzie Perkins, secretary; Miss Lola Morris, corresponding secretary; Miss Alla Troy, foreign corresponding secretary; Miss Nell Causey, society treasurer; Miss Lottie Phillips, treasurer for pledge fund; Miss Annie Renn, Missionary Voice agent; Miss Blanche Johnson, press reporter; Mrs. Lulu B. Carr, editor Annual; Mrs. Myra Albright, pianist.

Miss Caddie Fowle, of Washington N. C., is the guest of Mrs. George Dupuy on Summit avenue.

The Mark Twain Lecture.

On Friday at 8:30 p. m., March 31st, Charles F. Underhill will give his charming lecture on "Mark Twain, the Great." Those who hear him will enjoy a delightful and profitable evening, and help the ladies of Spring Garden Street church, for whose benefit Mr. Underhill lectures.

PHILATHEA ENTERTAINMENT.

The Philathea class of the Christian church Sunday school have issued invitations for an entertainment to be given in the basement of the church on next Friday evening, March 31, 8 to 10:30 o'clock.

Children's Parties.

Children's parties are as difficult to carry off successfully as the more formal functions of the grownup world. So any new idea is apt to be welcomed by the despairing hostess that will add to the entertainment and enjoyment of the youngsters.

An attractive affair that was recently given a youngster was a doll party. The little guests were girls, and the basis of the fun was a doll hunt, carried out after the manner of a cobweb game.

Gayly colored ribbons made a cobweb which was arranged in the center of the room. A card with the name of the doll that was to reward the searcher was fastened to the end of each ribbon.

And after half an hour of bewildering winding and unwinding each little girl came upon a pretty little doll. After the cobweb discovered the dolls it led away once more into the dining room, and here was found the most entrancing thing, a miniature clothesline, with a frock for each doll upon it and labeled with the doll's name so that no mistake could be made.

The same sort of party could be carried out for boys, where animals should be substituted for dolls. Think of the delight of winding yourself out into a dark corner where a grewsome bear will greet you or stumbling suddenly upon a magnificent lion behind the piano!

The Good Hostess.

Entertaining comes quite naturally to the woman who as a child has learned how to entertain her friends at home. Let her begin as early as possible, and let her have from the very first the feeling that she is responsible for the comfort and pleasure of her little guests. The good child hostess will be the good woman hostess by and by.

Temperature In the Sickroom.

The temperature in the child's sick room should never be below 60 degrees nor above 65. Hang the thermometer behind the child's bed and out of the draft.

How to Work Him.

"That's a fine chauffeur of yours! I told him I wanted to get out and get a cigar, and he wouldn't stop."

"You don't know the system. You should have said you wanted to get two cigars."—Toledo Blade.

They Look the Part.

Slobbs—That's easy enough for instance, lots of young doctors look like perfect pills.—Charlotte News.

English As It's Sung.

"I notice that Caruso has finally sung something in English?"

"What did he sing?"

"Blest if I know. Nobody could understand a word he uttered."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Avoiding Suspicion.

"Duke, you really musn't stay so late."

"Why not, my love?"

"Papa has heard that you are desperately hard up, and some one has been stealing our milk of late."—Exchange.

Exercise Waist Muscles.

Ten minutes given in the morning to muscular work before putting on stays is certainly worth trying. An excellent movement is to try to bend from the waist, going low, while keeping the knees straight. Under no circumstances are the knees to bend, for then there is no work done by the hips. Bending over front, back and sidewise is limbering.

Any woman who has seen skirt dancing will understand that the beautiful posing of the dancer is done entirely from the waist line, and the flexibility of muscles there enables the dancer to be graceful and at the same time keeps her slender.

All so called "kicking" of professional skirt dancers is done from the hips. Women untrained in physical culture do not begin to work the muscles and cords about their hips and waist as much as they should, and in that fact lies the cause of increasingly large figures as middle age comes on.

It is not well to try to bend from the hips while wearing long stays, and indeed such an effort may work harm by compressing the organs. Muscles must have room when they are to be exercised, and unless all restricting bands are removed they are better quiet.

To Keep Hair Light and Fluffy.

The proper care of the hair does not require a woman to scour her scalp with soap and drench her hair with water until a shampoo, including drying the hair, takes the better part of the day. In fact, the less soap and water used on the hair the better, as alkali and moisture tend to make the hair coarse, dull and brittle.

If you want to keep the scalp clean and the hair light and fluffy try dry shampooing. Put in a quart jar or any other handy container four ounces of powdered orris root and four ounces of therox. Stir and shake until thoroughly mixed. A beautiful cleansing powder with a delicate perfume will be the result.

Sprinkle a tablespoonful of this mixture on the head and then brush it well through the hair. This brings out the natural color of the hair, makes it soft and glossy and, if continued regularly, tends to make the hair long and abundant, for it is a natural hair grower.

Mr. Bailey's Rules.

Henry Turner Bailey, a Boston artist, has laid down a set of rules whereby women of high and low degree, fat, thin, tall or short, can achieve aesthetic perfection in style. Here are the rules:

If you are tall, wear gowns made on horizontal lines and never have dresses too long or too short.

If you are short, your costume should be made on vertical lines. Never have your dresses short, regardless of style.

If you are stout, dress plainly in a one color scheme.

If you are thin, a mixed goods is permissible.

Women possessing large feet should never wear tan shoes.

Whether feet are large or small, the broad bulldog toe is inartistic from every point of view.

In conclusion Mr. Bailey says, "Puffs are condemnable because they are false."

Rest the Scalp.

Rest for the scalp is imperative to overcome the strain of wearing the large quantities of false hair that are now fashionable, for in addition to the mass of curls, puffs, etc., many pins are required to hold the coiffures in shape. These pins naturally pull the hair roots.

Eye Treatment.

For the baggy appearance under the eyes try rubbing gently with the tips of the fingers dipped in alcohol. Follow this treatment by massaging carefully with cold cream.

CELEBRATION OF JUBILEE OF THE ITALY UNIT BEGINS.

Rome, March 27.—The celebration of the jubilee of the Italy unit began today with the formal opening by King Victor Emmanuel of the International Are Exhibition.

On Wednesday an industrial exhibition will be begun at Turin, where in 1861 Victor Emmanuel, grandfather of the present monarch assumed the title of King of Italy (as Victor Emmanuel I).

At midnight a gun was fired from the Janiculum hall and the bell on the capitol was rung. From that hour the city was astir. Bands playing patriotic airs traversed the principal streets which were bright with lights and gay flags and bunting; crowds filled the squares shouting "viva Roma."

The celebration is offensive to the Holy See, and today some of the less orderly attempted to approach the Vatican.

They were met by a strong detachment of police and turned back.

During the morning hours King Victor Emmanuel, Queen Helena, the Duke of Genoa, the Count of Turin, the ministry diplomats and the members of parliament and the foreign commissioners of the art exhibition met at the capitol, at a sitting the solemnity and impressiveness of which was in marked contrast with the rollicking in the streets.

Count Di San Martino, president of the exhibition committee, presided and speeches tuned to the patriotic occasion were delivered by President Manfredi of the senate; President Marcora of the chamber of deputies and Mayor Nathan.

King Victor Emmanuel replied with an address that made a deep impression. The Americans present were Ambassador Leishman, Harrison S. Morris, United States commissioner to the exposition and J. P. Morgan, president of the foreign committee.

He is an ungrateful man who lives beyond his wife's means.

ITCHING IRRITATION.

Worst Form of Skin Trouble Quickly Cured by Inexpensive Treatment.

When you suffer with any skin trouble, even though the itching seems unbearable, do not think that it is necessary to use some disgusting greasy ointment. Try Hokara, a pure and simple skin food, that is guaranteed to contain no grease or acids and which is so cleanly it does not soil the linen.

Not only are minor skin troubles like pimples, blackheads, acne, barber's itch, etc., quickly cured, but the worst ulcers or cases of salt rheum or eczema are cleansed and healed by this wonderful skin food.

In order that any one may try Hokara at small expense Howard Gardner is selling a liberal sized jar at 25c and in addition guarantees to refund the money if the treatment does not do all that is claimed for it. Larger size 50 cents.

TESTIMONIAL.

I wish to state for the benefit of anyone suffering from eczema, that I had eczema on my hand for some time and could find nothing that would cure it until I used Hokara. One 25c jar entirely cured me. Wm. Nichols, 621 1-2 Central Ave., Ft. Dodge, Iowa.

The North State Millers Meet Here

The Millers' Association of North Carolina will meet in the parlors of the McAdoo hotel tomorrow night at eight o'clock, at which time some business of an important nature will be considered. From the responses to the call issued by President Jas. D. McNeill, of Fayetteville, and Secretary A. B. Harry, of High Point, there will be a large attendance of members from all parts of the State.

PREPARING FOR CONVENTION.

The joint meeting Sunday of the committees arranging for the Baraca-Philathea convention, which meets here April 22-24, was a very enthusiastic one. The diffeent committees took hold of the work in earnest and from all appearances will leave nothing undone. About 200 or 250 delegates will attend the meeting, representing every section of the state. They will be entertained free while in the city. Committees were appointed from the two associations to solicit homes and will begin their canvass immediately. This is the first convention of its kind in this state.

NEW YORK WORLD ALLEGES REASON FOR MANEUVERS HAS BEEN UNCOVERED

Washington, March 26.—A remarkable explanation of the causes back of the insurrection in Mexico has reached The World from sources apparently reliable.

It is that the Rockefeller and Morgan interests, through the Inter-continental Rubber Co., are seeking to wrest from the Mexican Government control of the Mexican railway lines, the stock of which is now owned by the Government.

There are three great lines, now allied and known generally as the National Railway Lines. The bonds are owned in the United States. The "big money" men are not seeking to possess the stock, but to wipe it out. What they would like to see is its elimination through enforced foreclosure of the bonds they own. The process alleged to be proposed is the bankrupting of the lines, but it will make them worth grabbing at the financiers' own figures when the wreck has been accomplished.

To Squeeze Out Stockholders.

The story as outlined to The World is this:

Two or three years ago, when another revolution was on foot in Mexico, American financiers exacted from President Diaz an agreement to increase the national control of the Mexican railways. With the end in view of one day wrecking the railways' finances, so that the original stockholders would become simply the holders of a package of worthless certificates. These finaciers saw to it that all the money obtained from the sale of stocks and bonds and all the moeny received from the high freight and equally high passenger rates went back into the physical enhancement of the lines.

Betterments and new lines, fine engines, handsome stations, eighty-five pound rails, stone ballast and fine new steel cars, made the roads increase rapidly in real, intrinsic value—value to the bondholders rather than the stockholders. The property became rich plucking.

Then, according to the information at hand, plans were laid for the consummation of the financial coup. Should the revolution grow in extent and force for another month or so the ends of the promoters on this side of the Rio Grande would be subserved and vast benefit to the American capitalists involved would be won at the expense of Mexico's interests in some of her greatest industries.

The financing of the revolt is said to have been accomplished from this side of the border as follows:

Each week there is sent to the firm of F. Gross & Co., bankers of San Antonio, Tex., a sum sufficient to purchase the necessary ammunition and other supplies for the coming week of war. These funds are forwarded to one John McCarthy. John McCarthy then buys the supplies for the insurrectos. McCarthy is said to be a myth. He is in reality Francesco I. Madero, promoter and organizer of the insurrection.

The source of these funds is the Intercontinental Rubber Company of the United States—the raw rubber trust. This is the organization in which the Rockefeller interests are dominant. Ex-Senator Nelson W. Aldrich and his son hold a huge block of its stock. Aldrich is the father-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

Eventually, according to the plan outlined, with the strong arm of Uncle Sam, Mexico will be restored to order. Mortgages on the Mexican National Railway lines will be foreclosed. Meanwhile, in the smash of the Mexican revolt some of the few small privately owned lines, some of them owned by Mexicans, some by Americans, and more by British and German capitalists, will feel the burden. They will weaken. Out of the Mexican revolution is to come the Morganizing or the Rockefellerizing of the whole railway system of Mexico.

This might mean the Morganizing of Mexico for the railway is virtually the only system of transportation available to interior Mexico. Unlike the United States or Canada, Mexico has no great navigable arteries like the Mississippi, Missouri, the Ohio, the Hudson or the St. Lawrence. The men who control the railways control the nation.—New York World.

Do Ladies Know the Value of Money?

Some married men soy they do not, but we think that ladies are better judges of values than men. A man is apt to buy from his friends or from men who belong to the same lodge or society, but ladies look the market over, and when they finally buy they usually get their Money's worth. But due to the extensive credit system in vogue in this city, the ladies have not been getting good shoe values. They have been compelled to pay more than the actual cash value for shoes.

Ladies, We Have a Surprise for You!

Our $3.50 Shoes are as good as you have been in the habit of buying for $5.00. How is this possible? We are glad you asked the question, as we are glad of an opportunity of explaining why we sell a ladies' shoe for $3.50 equal to the $5.00 shoe sold in other stores who sell on credit. We buy direct from a manufacturer who makes 7,000 pairs of shoes every day. We buy for cash and get the benefit of the cash discount, and we do not sell any shoes to people who do not pay for them.

Just think of it! Wonderful, isn't it? The very latest models in Cravenette, Suede, Russia Calf' Gun Metal, Patent Kid, Vici Kid and Patent Pony Leather in button or lace, slant top, low, medium or high heels, with flexible soles, for $3.50 a pair.

"ALIAS JIMMY VALENTINE" IS MELODRAMA THAT HAS ITS EXTRAVAGANCES MODIFIED.

"Alias Jimmy Valentine" is the kind of play that grips you when the curtain rises, and does not let you leave until the last scene has been played and the solution of the difficulties of the stellar character has been found. To some sensitive persons it is unpleasant to come into such close contact with the inmates of a penitentiary as is the experience of each beholder of the first act, with its scene set in Sing Sing in the warden's office and with several men in stripes, utterly cowed and with a prison pallor and a prison-slinking manner, presented to view and set through a course of "sprouts" in the perpetrating of acts such as check-raising and lock-picking. But the act ends with a swift turn that brings laughter, and later one is deeply interested in the reformation of Jimmy Valentine when he has become a trusted bank employe and when he is doing his utmost to avoid punishment for a crime of five years before. It is scarcely the proper attitude for any one to take to wish that Jimmy may go scot free, but sentiment in the case is stronger than the desire to see justice meted out, and so everybody is happy when the detective who has been hounding Jimmy is willing to let bygones be bygones, especially after the revision of Jimmy to his old trade of expert safe-opener under stress of extenuating circumstances. These circumstances are found in the locking in a vault of a child who is the sister of Jimmy's sweet heart, and to the appeals of his former partner in criminality, to open the vault and to save the girl. Jimmy opens this safe in the course of a tensely melodramatic scene, which is made too melodramatic to be quite convincing. However, the overelaboration of the preliminary business of sand-papering the Valentine fingers will hardly be altered now because of this mild protest. Paul Armstrong, who wrote the play, founding his story upon a tale of O. Henry, "A Retrieved Redemption," has been clever in his adapting the slight incident there set forth to an interesting four-act melodrama. The able character portrayals of some of the men in the company give the resultant entertainment a great deal of zest.

Humor and Philosophy

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

THERE are a lot of things that a man doesn't know, but he wouldn't have his small son find it out for the world.

If you want to affront a stout woman beyond pardon speak of fat women in her hearing.

Somehow a man never seems to think that tending furnace is good for muscular development.

A man gets dreadfully reckless of consequences when there is an impressionable girl around.

A man thinks he is as much out of place in the kitchen as he thinks he is in place in the dining room.

A pretty servant girl is apt to keep the cake box in an impoverished condition.

Bargain sales are the feminine forms of wheels of fortune.

A man always sympathizes with his small son when the latter's mother tries to make him account for his whereabouts.

A man is enthusiastic over his daughter's sewing lessons until she springs the proposition upon him that now she has saved so much by making some house dresses that a brand new tailor made costume is coming to her.

Damage Value.

"What is the matter now?"
"The engine killed my cow."
"What was it worth?"
"Oh, about half what it is now."

Easy to Guess.

"Mrs. Browne is so happy."
"Happy, is she?"
"Sure."
"When did she get it?"
"Get what?"
"Her divorce."

One Bad Job Done.

"I have had such an unhappy day."
"Then you ought to be glad."
"Glad?"
"Yes. Because there is one more disagreeable day marked off your calendar."

Plenty There.

"What is the matter with you?"
"I'm looking for trouble."
"Let me sell you a secondhand auto."

Unseasonable.

Belated storms,
I will admit,
Don't make a hit.
I'm for reforms
In weather lines.
I'd stick on fines
For snow and sleet
That came to greet
A morn in May
Had I my way.

I do not mind
This sort of crime
When it's confined
To winter time,
But when I long
My seeds to sow
I call it wrong
To send down snow
Or have a freeze
To nip my trees.

When spring looks fair
And all seems well
It makes me swear
To have a spell
Of weather come
To chill the land
That is a plumb
Outrageous brand,
Which, on the whole,
Would fit the pole.

If spring is here
It isn't nice
To find a year
Or so of ice
When we were glad,
With reason, too,
That winter had
At last got through.
The weather clerk
Enjoined should be.
If it would work,
Why not let's see?

MARK TWAIN ONCE SAID

"It is Spring Fever that causes the general unrest, lack of ambition and run-down condition which pervades the human system in the Spring of the year."

The sudden change from frigid to torrid weather occurs within a few weeks, especially in our northern States.

No wonder pulmonary troubles—pneumonia, spring fever, and all such ailments are almost universal.

If people in this vicinity only knew the value of Vinol, our deliciaus cod liver and iron tonic (without oil) at this season of the year, we would not be able to get enough to supply the demand.

Vinol tones up the digestive organs, purifies and enriches the blood, promotes healthful sleep and a normal appetite.

Old people, delicate children, rundown, overworked and tired women, those suffering from bronchitis, chronic coughs and colds, all derive great benefit from its use.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. Fariss-Klutz Drug Co., Greensboro, N. C.

NEWS OF SPORTS

THE UMPIRE'S VOICE WILL SOON BE HEARD AT PARK

The Patriots Begin Practice Today--- Players Reporting and to Come---College Game This Week---Virginia-Carolina Game Great Drawing Card.

There will be something doing on the baseball lot in Greensboro, beginning today. Manager Frank Doyle will have the Patriots out for first practice this morning at 9:30, if the Weather Man does not pull off something to prevent it. Thereafter, twice a day until the season opens on April 27th, the performance will be repeated. About a dozen of the Patriots have reported and the balance of the bunch will be coming in most any day, with the exception of two or three players who are scheduled to report later in the season.

The men who have reported are the following named players:

Ware, catcher, Greenfield, Ind., from which town hails Manager Doyle, who will probably play second; Mallard, pitcher, from Lynchburg; Fisher, pitcher, Columbia, Pa.; Eldridge, pitcher, Spero, N. C.; Fuller, first base, Philadelphia; Rea, short stop, from California; Rickert and Hoyt, Albion, Mich., and Lohman, Proximity, outfielders.

Players expected to report are Bentley, McAdensville, N. C., and Nippert, Cincinnati, catchers; Corwin, short stop, Leesburg, O.; and Horner, catcher, of Burlington, N. C., who is expected to report today. Snetherly, pitcher, of Burlington, will report April 4th. Jones, the High Point pitcher, and Houser, the St. Marys' College coach who is also a pitcher, will report soon. Clapp, an outfielder who is playing with Oak Ridge, and Doak and Stewart, catcher and infielder, who are playing with Guilford College, will report later in the season.

Boston Nationals Here Saturday.

The Boston Nationals will come to Greensboro next Saturday for a game with the Patriots, and will register 35 men at the Guilford over Sunday.

New York Giants Monday.

Monday the Patriots go against the New York Giants. The games with the Giants and the Bostons are exciting lots of interest and promise to draw big crowds.

Will Play the Virginia League Teams.

Manager Doyle announces that games will be scheduled with the Virginia League teams. The dates have not been fixed, except for two games with Lynchburg, which will be pulled off on Saturday before Easter and on Monday after Easter.

Guilford and LaFayette Play March 30.

Guilford College and LaFayette University, after playing at Guilford on Wednesday, will meet here on Thursday for a game which promises to be hotly contested and a big drawing card.

The Carolina-Virginia Game.

Manager E. F. McCulloch of the University team was in the city yesterday completing arrangements for the game with Virginia, which is scheduled for April 8th. This will be the most largely attended and most widely advertised game of the season, perhaps.

Christian College Defeated.

Chapel Hill, March 27.—The baseball team of Atlantic Christian College was defeated here today by the University reserves or second team, the score being five to four in favor of the latter team.

BIG LEAGUE NOTES.

Harry Lord is hitting the ball hard for the White Sox this spring.

Catcher Russell is making an impression among the Highlanders by his hard hitting.

Pitcher "Red" Nelson, of the Browns, is a brakeman on a freight train in Winter.

Third Baseman Blake, the St. Louis recruit, is said to be reghtly named Charley Sapp.

Catcher Patrick O'Connor joined the Pirates late last week, still showing the effects of a severe attack of grip.

It is settled that First Baseman George Stovall will again captain the Cleveland team.

Manager Fred Clarke, of Pittsburg, recommends running or walking up stairways as the best possible method of developing and strengthening the legs.

Josh Clarke, brother of Manager Fred Clarke, of Pittsburg, will make his third attempt to become a major leaguer. He is with the Boston National Club.

Lew Moren's pitching arm is so sore that he may not be asked to do any twirling until the Cincinnati team gets back home, when he will consult a physician.

Manager Jennings has put a stop to crap games among his players and Manager Chance, of the Cubs, has ruled against poker playing.

Of course Mullin will pitch the opening game for Detroit, but as a matter of form, Manager Jennings has made the announcement for 1911.

According to war correspondents with the Detroit Tigers that team is torn with dissensions which will require the utmost efforts of Manager Jennings to patch up.

If both of Detroit's first base candidates fail to deliver George Moriarty will take the position. He isn't crying for the job, but is willing to help the club out of a hole.

Art Griggs, secured by Cleveland from St. Louis, is showing up so well that the Cleveland club is being congratulated upon having "at last made a ten-strike in a deal."

When not warming up with Catcher Robinson or chasing himself around the ball park Pitcher "Rube" Marquard is kept busy fielding bunts by Manager McGraw, of the Giants.

The veteran Jack Rowe's son writes from St. Louis that there is no truth in the report that his father is lying critically ill. The veteran is much improved and will get quite well.

Smith, a Southern southpaw, is one of the promising recruits for the Pirates' pitching department. Hendrix also is showing himself to be very fast on the bases for a big man.

Manager Fred Tenney, of Boston, says that Bobby Lowe was the greatest utility player that beseball ever knew. Fred also says that Billy Hamilton was the greatest center fielder.

President Comiskey, of the White Sox, evidently did not buy a lemon when he paid Hugh Jennings $2,500 for Matty McIntyre, outfielder. The latter is showing he still has a good eye with the stick in the practice games.

Manager Wallace, of St. Louis, denies the report that he would pass up Hot Springs as a training place in the future. He says that the place suits him all right, but that next season he will require a separate practice park.

Catcher Sid Smith, of Cleveland, the only Polo player among baseball players, is regarded in the South as one of the best poloists in America. He puts in most of his time at it in the winter at his home in Camden, S. C.

The story going the rounds that Walter Johnson's uncle has signed to pitch for Los Angeles is true enough, but the uncle of the great Washington flinger is only 19 years old.

At least a dozen of the athletes taken on the trip to the Coast at the expense of John I. Taylor will be left out there unless some of the major league clubs want them, for it is reported that waivers will be asked and the players turned over to Coast teams.

The Louisville Colonels have adopted a foundling, abandoned at their hotel, as a mascot. The baby is a girl and a note left with it said she was born February 11. The ball players all took a great interest in the wee mite and declare that she will be well looked after.

Twenty of the 36 players that compose the Cleveland squad are over 6 feet tall. Pitcher Falkenberg tops the bunch with 6 feet 5 inches, while Addie Joss is next in line, being 6 feet 3 inches in height. Knaupp is the shortest man on the team, measuring 5 feet 7 inches.

Sheldon Lejeune, champ long distance thrower, now with Brooklyn has a $25 fine hanging over his head from the Central League, for slapping an umpire in the closing days of last season. President Carson of the Central says it must be paid if Lejeune expects to be of any use to Brooklyn.

The Detroit players have a plan to cure Catcher Charley Schmidt of his pugilistic aspirations. They are going to "ring" in some good man on him, see that the Tiger gets a good licking, and then, they say, he will conclude that the diamond and not the squared circles is his best.

Ex-Manager George Stallings, of the Highlanders, at Memphis last week gave out a story in which he charged that his ousting from the New Yark management last September was the result of a combination between President Farrell and some of his players, of whom Chase was the "chief conspirator" against Stallings. The latter concluded with the statement that he was glad to quit New York and get back with Buffalo.

Evansville, Ind., March 27.—Because of his large ears, Charles R. Phillips, was refused enlistment in the naval recruiting station, the officer telling him that he would be the laughing stock of the navy.

Many elderly people have found in Foley's Kidney Remedy a quick relief and permanent benefit from kidney and bladder ailments and from annoying urinary irregularities due to advancing years. Isaac N. Regan, Farmer, Mo., says: "Foley's Kidney Remedy effected a complete cure in my case and I want others to know of it."—Howard Gardner.

Points For Mothers

Lessons In "Noblesse Oblige."

Among the hardest lessons younger people have to learn is the one that teaches "noblesse oblige," or, to put it in a phrase, nobility of mind and strength of character bring obligations toward others.

A child wants to do what it likes to do. It does not think it is in the least necessary to consider what anybody else likes or dislikes. Politeness demands and politeness means the treating of everybody just as one would wish to be treated under similar circumstances.

So here is the Golden Rule, truly and without disguise. Unfortunately it is not followed largely in this selfish world, but if young people were taught oftener that they owe a certain duty to themselves whereby they are most certainly fulfilling their duty to others it would be pleasanter to pass along the paths of social life.

Duty to oneself means always proper duty to those one comes in contact with. It is due to the growing boy and girl to teach them that by their actions toward host and hostess by just so much is credit reflected upon themselves and also upon their parents. Social duties are not always pleasant. Sometimes they mean meeting those whom we heartily dislike under the roof of a mutual friend. Then comes the test of breeding, of recognizing the obligations imposed by those laws of society we call etiquette, and by these the boy and girl are judged. If self is allowed to step too prominently to the front it means lack of politeness that tends to place a hostess in an embarrassing position.

Was it not the "iron man," the great Bismarck, who said, "If you must declare' war, do it politely?" Noblesse oblige.

Entertains the Little Ones.

Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay, original in many things, is never more so than when getting up entertainments for children. Just give her a chance to bend her keen wits on amusement for the little ones and her inventive faculty is on edge immediately. One of her newest forms of juvenile diversion is the "royal taper tea." Her youthful guests sit at tables. A beautiful big cake is carried in and placed in the table's center. The cake is lighted with tiny tapers, one for each child in the company. The cake may be baked in the form of a star and should contain a coin and a ring. All the tapers are stuck securely in the icing that edges the cake. Mrs. Mackay cuts the cake and gives each child a slice. The guest whose slice contains the coin, if a boy, should be acclaimed king, and she who gets the ring is queen. Following an old custom, the king is lifted on the shoulders of four boys up to the ceiling, where he makes a sign to keep away the mischievous spirits. Now the fun of the affair begins. The king and queen mount a dais, and all the other children have to pay homage to them—bow, courtesy and pay pretty compliments. Each subject in turn has to entertain his monarchs in some way—must dance, sing, jump, hop on one foot or do some other stunt.
